

~DISNEY CLASSICS~

Disney

Mickey's Christmas Carol

Disney

To:

From:

One snowy Christmas Eve, one person was not thinking about trees or presents. His name was Ebenezer Scrooge!

Scrooge hurried past a group of carolers.

“God bless you, sir,” one of them called out. “Please spare a coin for a poor, hungry child!”

“Bah! Humbug!” replied Scrooge. “If the poor want to be rich, let them work as hard as I do.”

With his cane, Scrooge knocked the snow from the sign above his office door. He was thinking about his partner, Jacob Marley, who had passed away seven years ago that very night.

“He was a good one! He robbed the widows and swindled the poor!” Scrooge chuckled to himself.

